

SAFETY*MONDAY

JULY TOOL BOX TALK:

Each year hundreds are killed by severe weather including lightening strikes. We must also be aware of threats from tornados and high winds and other storms as well as threats from hail and flooding.

Please speak to your Employees about the threat of Dangerous Weather. Remember the 30/30 Rule with lightening. If the time between lightening and thunder is 30 seconds or less, have them go to a safe shelter. They should remain in a safe location until the storm passes. Employees should be reminded that being outside in yards or other open areas is not the place to be during a severe storm. They should avoid areas with tall trees or other structures that will attract lightening. Employees should be encouraged to report threatening weather and to find shelter immediately.

Brought to You By: