To the Board of Trustees of the National Waste & Recycling Association

We have audited the financial statements of the National Waste & Recycling Association (NWRA) for the year ended December 31, 2021, and have issued our report thereon dated October 27, 2022. Professional standards require that we provide you with information about our responsibilities under generally accepted auditing standards, as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit.

Our Responsibility under U.S. Generally Accepted Auditing Standards

As stated in our engagement letter dated November 19, 2021, our responsibility, as described by professional standards, is to express an opinion about whether the financial statements prepared by management with your oversight are fairly presented, in all material respects, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Our audit of the financial statements does not relieve you or management of your responsibilities.

Our responsibility, as prescribed by professional standards, is to plan and perform our audit to obtain reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit of financial statements includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of NWRA's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, as part of our audit, we considered the internal control of NWRA solely for the purpose of determining our audit procedures and not to provide any assurance concerning such internal control.

An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements; therefore, our audit involved judgment about the number of transactions to be examined and the areas to be tested.

Our audit included obtaining an understanding of NWRA and its environment, including internal control, sufficient to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements and to design the nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures. Material misstatements may result from (1) errors, (2) fraudulent financial reporting, (3) misappropriation of assets, or (4) violations of laws or governmental regulations that are attributable to NWRA or to acts by management or employees acting on behalf of NWRA. We generally communicate our significant findings at the conclusion of the audit. We also communicate any internal control related matters that are required to be communicated under professional standards.

As part of our audit, professional standards require us to perform risk assessment procedures that are sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement due to error or fraud, and designing further audit procedures. We are also required to determine whether any risks we have identified and assessed are significant risks that are risks that require special attention. Under auditing standards that were required to be adopted for years ending on or after December 31, 2021, the auditor is now required to specifically communicate significant risks identified during an audit to those charged with governance to help those charged with governance understand the significant risks and assist those charged with governance in fulfilling their responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process. Previously the auditor was required to identify significant risks, but there was no specific requirement to communicate significant risks to those charged with governance. Findings, if any, related to these risks are communicated in the letter below. Based on our risk assessment process we determined that the following risks are significant risks and our audit approach has incorporated these risks into our planned audit procedures:

- Management override of internal controls
- Improper revenue recognition.

Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit.

Significant Audit Findings

Oualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by NWRA are described in Note 1 to the financial statements. No new accounting policies were adopted and the application of existing policies was not changed during 2021. We noted no transactions entered into by NWRA during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the financial statements in the proper period.

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. The most sensitive estimates affecting the financial statements were:

NWRA's allocation of fringe, overhead and fundraising expenses, calculation of the allowance for doubtful accounts; and determination of economic life of property and equipment represent particularly sensitive accounting estimates. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop these estimates and believe that they are reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Certain financial statement disclosures are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statement users. The most sensitive disclosures affecting the financial statements were:

The disclosure of NWRA's use of several programs under the CARES Act, including the payroll protection program and the employee retention tax credit, as, described in Note 8 to the financial statements, which includes the amounts received or expected to be received under these programs.

The financial statement disclosures are neutral, consistent, and clear.

Independence

During the year ended December 31, 2021, we were engaged to provide assistance in preparation of the financial statements and preparation and tax filing services. We reviewed the nature of the requested work, our role and management's role and determined that our independence would not be impaired, in fact or appearance.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing and completing our audit.

Corrected and Uncorrected Misstatements

Professional standards require us to accumulate all misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are clearly trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. We did not identify any material misstatements as a result of our audit procedures that were recorded by management. However, management provided an adjustment during the audit that we recorded as part of the audit process (see attached).

We did not identify any uncorrected misstatements.

Disagreements with Management

For purposes of this letter, a disagreement with management is a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the financial statements or the auditors' report. We are pleased to report that no such disagreements arose during the course of our audit.

Management Representations

We have requested certain representations from management that are included in the management representation letter dated October 27, 2022.

Management Consultations with Other Independent Accountants

In some cases, management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principle to NWRA's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditors' opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Other Audit Findings or Issues

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with management each year prior to retention as NWRA's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our retention.

This information is intended solely for the use of Board of Trustees and management of NWRA and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Very truly yours,

Marcun LLP

There are no such estimates that may be subject to a material change in the near term that have not been properly disclosed in the financial statements.
- 21. We have evaluated our tax positions in accordance with ASC 740 "Income Taxes". Specifically, we have determined whether our tax positions would be sustained upon examination, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation, based on the technical merits of the positions (assuming the taxing authority has full knowledge of all information) based upon a "more-likely-than-not" (MLTN) threshold. If this threshold is not met, none of the tax benefit provided by the position is reflected in the financial statements. For a tax position that meets the MLTN recognition threshold, the benefit is measured at the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. Additionally, related interest and penalties, if any, have been recorded in accordance with ASC 740 "Income Taxes".
